A rewarding career that makes a positive impact on someone's life

We are a social enterprise organisation providing assistance and support for people with learning disabilities, older people and young people. Based in Castlemilk in Glasgow, we work alongside people who use our support, to help them have the kind of life they want.

Our organisation is all about people, whether that is the people we work for, their friends and families or our staff. We work with people in line with the organisations values which are to EMPOWER, to INNOVATE and to ENCOURAGE. For us, our staff are the face of our organisation. They represent us in communities, when they are out working with someone or speaking to their friends and family. That's why we look for people who are caring, compassionate and empathetic. We look for staff members that can empower the people we work for, to try new things, build their confidence and increase their independence.

This sounds like a lot to take on but it's not! People do this in their everyday lives without really acknowledging it. It could be as simple as taking a

Over the next few years the demand for trained and experienced Support Workers is going to be huge. It's also relatively easy to start your career with Fair Deal, you don't need any qualifications, but you do need to be a caring person that people can put their trust in.
